How to Use This Workbook

Who this is for. K-12 teachers of math, science, social studies, ELA, the arts, physical education, and every other subject who have little or no Spanish and who teach Spanish-speaking English learners.

What it is not. This course will not make you fluent, and it does not replace a qualified interpreter. It gives you respectful, accurate phrases for everyday classroom moments and clear guidance on when to bring in help.

How each module works. Every module follows the same path: learning goals, a short mini-lesson, a phrase table with pronunciation, a cultural and teaching tip, practice activities, a five-question quiz, and a one-page cheat sheet you can keep on your desk.

Study alone or with colleagues. The partner role-plays work best with a colleague, a PLC, or a department. If you study alone, do the role-plays out loud and record yourself on your phone.

Use the answer key. Answers to every activity and quiz are in the back of the workbook. Try each activity first, then check.

Time. Plan about 45 to 60 minutes per module, plus a few minutes a day of speaking practice.

Pronunciation Key

Every Spanish phrase in this workbook has a teacher-friendly respelling. Read the respelling like English, using these rules:

Respelling	Meaning	Example
CAPITAL letters	Stress this syllable.	GRAH-syahs (gracias)
ah, eh, ee, oh, oo	The five Spanish vowels. Keep them short and pure.	KAH-sah (casa)
h	A breathy h, as in hat. Used for Spanish j and for g before e or i.	hoh-SEH (José)
y	As in yes. Used for Spanish ll and y.	YAH-moh (llamo)

Respelling	Meaning	Example
ny	As in canyon. Used for Spanish ñ.	mah-NYAH-nah (mañana)
r	A quick tap, like the tt in butter.	PEH-rah (pera)
rr	A rolled or trilled r.	PEH-rroh (perro)
b	Spanish b and v sound almost the same.	fah-BOHR (favor)

Spanish varies from country to country, just as English does. The respellings follow common Latin American pronunciation. When a student or family says something differently, follow their lead.

MODULE 1 OF 6

Sounds and Names

Los sonidos y los nombres

Spanish is spelled the way it sounds. Learn a small set of sound rules and you can read almost any Spanish name aloud, starting with the names on your roster.

Learning goals

- Pronounce the five Spanish vowels clearly and consistently.
- Recognize the consonants that sound different from English: h, j, g, ll, y, ñ, r, rr, z, c, qu, v, and x.
- Use two simple stress rules and written accent marks to find the stressed syllable.
- Ask for, practice, and use a student's name with respect.
- Explain how two surnames (dos apellidos) work and use them correctly on rosters and with families.

Mini-lesson

Why start with sounds?

English spelling is full of surprises. Spanish spelling is not. Each letter, with a few predictable exceptions, has one sound. Once you know the patterns, you can read a new name or word aloud with confidence. Saying a student's name correctly on the first day tells the student, and the family, that they belong in your room.

The five vowels

English vowels change sound from word to word. Spanish vowels do not. Each vowel has one short, clean sound. Keep it short and do not glide into a second sound: say "oh," not "oh-oo," and "eh," not "ay-ee."

Letter	Sound	Like English	Example
a	ah	the a in father	casa (KAH-sah) house
e	eh	the e in met	mesa (MEH-sah) table
i	ee	the ee in see	libro (LEE-broh) book
o	oh	the o in no, but shorter	ojo (OH-hoh) eye
u	oo	the oo in moon	luna (LOO-nah) moon

Tricky consonants

Letter	Sound	Examples
h	Always silent	hola (OH-lah), Héctor (EHK-tohr)
j, and g before e or i	A breathy English h	José (hoh-SEH), Gerardo (heh-RAHR-doh)
g before a, o, u	Hard g, as in go	Gustavo (goos-TAH-boh)
gue, gui	Hard g; the u is silent	Guillermo (gee-YEHR-moh)

Letter	Sound	Examples
ll and y	y, as in yes	Yolanda (yoh-LAHN-dah), Castillo (kahs-TEE-yoh)
ñ	ny, as in canyon	Peña (PEH-nyah), Muñoz (moo-NYOHS)
r between vowels	A quick tap, like the tt in butter	Sara (SAH-rah), Mario (MAH-ryoh)
rr, and r at the start of a word	A rolled or trilled r	Ramón (rrah-MOHN), Iturria (ee-TOO-rryah)
z, and c before e or i	s (in Latin America)	Zapata (sah-PAH-tah), Cecilia (seh-SEE-lyah)
qu	k; the u is silent	Joaquín (hwah-KEEN), Enrique (ehn-RREE-keh)
v	Almost the same as b	Valeria (bah-LEH-ryah)
x	Usually ks; in some Mexican names, h	Ximena (hee-MEH-nah), México (MEH-hee-koh)

In much of Spain, z and c before e or i sound like the th in think. In Latin America they sound like s. Follow the way each student and family says their own name.

Accent marks and stress

Every Spanish word has one stressed syllable. Three rules tell you where it is:

1. Rule 1. Words that end in a vowel, n, or s: stress the next-to-last syllable. Carmen (KAHR-mehn), Lucas (LOO-kahs), Rosa (RROH-sah).
2. Rule 2. Words that end in any other consonant: stress the last syllable. Isabel (ee-sah-BEHL), Salvador (sahl-bah-DOHR).
3. Rule 3. A written accent mark overrides Rules 1 and 2: stress the marked syllable. Martínez (mahr-TEE-nehs), Sofía (soh-FEE-ah), Andrés (ahn-DREHS).

> Accents are part of the spelling
>
> - Write the accent mark on rosters, name tags, labels, and certificates whenever the student or family uses it. José without the accent is a spelling mistake, not a style choice.
> - An accent mark can change meaning: papa (potato) and papá (dad); si (if) and sí (yes).
> - Spanish questions and exclamations open with an upside-down mark: ¿Cómo estás? ¡Muy bien!

Learning a student's name: Ask, Listen, Repeat, Check, Use

1. Ask: "¿Cómo se dice tu nombre?" (How do you say your name?)
2. Listen closely. Notice the vowels and which syllable is stressed.
3. Repeat it back, slowly.
4. Check: "¿Lo digo bien?" (Am I saying it right?) Try again until the student is satisfied.
5. Use it every day, and write your own respelling in your roster so a substitute can say it too.

Do not shorten or anglicize a name unless the student asks you to. Some students choose an English nickname themselves; follow the student's lead and the family's wishes.

Two surnames (dos apellidos)

Many people from Spanish-speaking countries have two surnames. Traditionally, the first surname comes from the father and the second comes from the mother. Conventions vary by country and by family, so when in doubt, ask.

Person	First name	1st surname (father's)	2nd surname (mother's)
Father	Luis	Hernández	Castillo
Mother	Marta	Ruiz	Ortega
Student	Daniela	Hernández	Ruiz

- Daniela usually goes by her first surname: Daniela Hernández. File and search for her under H.
- Her mother is Señora Ruiz, not "Mrs. Hernández." Many women keep their own surnames after marriage.
- If a form has only one surname box, ask the family what they prefer. Some families use a hyphen (Hernández-Ruiz).
- Compound first names are common: María José, Juan Pablo, José Luis. Use both parts if the student does.

Phrases to know

English	Spanish	Say it
Hello, what is your name?	Hola, ¿cómo te llamas?	OH-lah, KOH-moh teh YAH-mahs
My name is ___.	Me llamo ___.	meh YAH-moh
Nice to meet you.	Mucho gusto.	MOO-choh GOOS-toh
How do you say your name?	¿Cómo se dice tu nombre?	KOH-moh seh DEE-seh too NOHM-breh
Am I saying it right?	¿Lo digo bien?	loh DEE-goh BYEHN
Say it again, please.	Repítelo, por favor.	rreh-PEE-teh-loh, pohr fah-BOHR
More slowly, please.	Más despacio, por favor.	MAHS dehs-PAH-syoh, pohr fah-BOHR
How do you spell it?	¿Cómo se escribe?	KOH-moh seh ehs-KREE-beh
Does it have an accent mark?	¿Lleva acento?	YEH-bah ah-SEHN-toh
What is your last name?	¿Cuál es tu apellido?	KWAHL ehs too ah-peh-YEE-doh
What do you like to be called?	¿Cómo te gusta que te llamen?	KOH-moh teh GOOS-tah keh teh YAH-mehn
What is your mom's name?	¿Cómo se llama tu mamá?	KOH-moh seh YAH-mah too mah-MAH
Thank you for teaching me.	Gracias por enseñarme.	GRAH-syahs pohr ehn-seh-NYAHR-meh

Cultural and teaching tip: Names carry family history

A name often connects a child to parents, grandparents, and a home country. When you take the time to learn it, you honor that connection.

If a student is shy, practice the name privately rather than in front of the class. If you make a mistake, say "Perdón. ¿Cómo se dice?" (Sorry. How do you say it?) and try again. You are modeling exactly what you ask of your English learners: taking a risk with a new language.

Keep a pronunciation column in your roster and in your substitute plans. A guest teacher who says a name correctly protects the respect you have built.

Module 1 Practice

Activity 1 · MATCHING Letters and sounds

Write the letter of the matching sound next to each Spanish letter.

1. h	____	a. ny, as in canyon
2. j	____	b. k, with a silent u
3. ll	____	c. silent
4. ñ	____	d. rolled or trilled r
5. z	____	e. y, as in yes
6. qu	____	f. s
7. rr	____	g. breathy h, as in hat

Activity 2 · FILL-IN Find the stress

Write the stressed syllable in capital letters, then write the rule (1, 2, or 3) that tells you. The first one is done for you.

1. Carmen: CAR Rule 1

2. Isabel: _____ Rule ____

3. Ramírez: _____ Rule ____

4. Lucas: _____ Rule ____

5. Raúl: _____ Rule ____

6. Salvador: _____ Rule ____

7. Valentina: _____ Rule ____

8. Andrés: _____ Rule ____

Activity 3 · SCENARIO Roster detective

Read each situation and write what you would do or say.

1. Your roster lists "Hernández Ruiz, Daniela." Under which letter do you file her work? What is her father's surname?

2. Daniela's mother, Marta Ruiz Ortega, comes to pick her up. How do you greet her by name?

3. A new student writes "Juan Pablo Torres Medina" on an index card. What do you call him in class?

4. The office record says "José Luis García," but the student says, "Me llamo José Luis García Morales." What should you do?

Activity 4 · SPEAK ALOUD

Read the roster

Read each name aloud twice using the sound rules. Then check yourself with the respellings in the answer key.

José
Jesús
Guadalupe
Ximena
Joaquín
Guillermo
Yesenia
Rocío
Ángel
Jiménez
Gutiérrez
Rodríguez
Vázquez
Muñoz
Hernández
Iturria

Activity 5 · PARTNER ROLE-PLAY

First-day name check

Partner A is a new student and picks a full name with two surnames from this module. Partner B is the teacher. Use the Ask, Listen, Repeat, Check, Use routine. Then switch roles.

Teacher	Hola. ¿Cómo te llamas?
Student	Me llamo Yesenia Rodríguez Peña.
Teacher	Mucho gusto, Yesenia. ¿Lo digo bien?
Student	Sí. (or: No, es Ye-SE-nia.)
Teacher	Repítelo, por favor. … ¿Cómo te gusta que te llamen?
Student	Yesenia.
Teacher	Gracias por enseñarme.

Self-check:

☐ Pure vowels, no glides
☐ Correct stressed syllable

☐ Used the name at the end
☐ Identified the first surname

Module 1 Quiz

1. Which letter is always silent in Spanish?

A. j
B. h
C. ll
D. ñ

2. How is the name José pronounced?

A. HOH-seh
B. hoh-SEH
C. JOH-zee
D. hoh-ZAY

3. In the name Valeria, the v sounds most like:

A. English v
B. English f
C. English b
D. English w

4. Mariana López Castro usually goes by which surname?

A. López
B. Castro
C. Mariana
D. Both, always with a hyphen

5. You are not sure how to say a new student's name. What is the best first step?

A. Give the student a nickname
B. Use only the last name
C. Ask the student privately: "¿Cómo se dice tu nombre?"
D. Skip the name during roll call

Module 1 Cheat Sheet

Sounds and Names · Los sonidos y los nombres

The five vowels

a	ah (father)
e	eh (met)
i	ee (see)
o	oh (no, short)
u	oo (moon)

Tricky consonants

h	silent
j, ge, gi	breathy h
ll, y	y (yes)
ñ	ny (canyon)
z, ce, ci	s
qu	k
v	b
rr	rolled r

Where is the stress?

- Ends in vowel, n, s: next-to-last syllable (CAR-men)
- Ends in another consonant: last syllable (i-sa-BEL)
- Accent mark: stress it (Mar-TÍ-nez)

Two surnames

- Daniela Hernández Ruiz
- Hernández = father's; file under H
- Ruiz = mother's; Mom is Señora Ruiz
- One box on a form? Ask the family

Name routine: Ask, Listen, Repeat, Check, Use

Spanish	English	Say it
¿Cómo te llamas?	What is your name?	KOH-moh teh YAH-mahs
¿Cómo se dice tu nombre?	How do you say your name?	KOH-moh seh DEE-seh too

Spanish	English	Say it
		NOHM-breh
¿Lo digo bien?	Am I saying it right?	loh DEE-goh BYEHN
Repítelo, por favor.	Say it again, please.	rreh-PEE-teh-loh, pohr fah-BOHR
¿Cómo te gusta que te llamen?	What do you like to be called?	KOH-moh teh GOOS-tah keh teh YAH-mehn
Gracias por enseñarme.	Thank you for teaching me.	GRAH-syahs pohr ehn-seh-NYAHR-meh

Remember

- Write accent marks on every roster, label, and certificate.
- Do not anglicize a name unless the student asks.
- Add your respelling to your roster and sub plans.

MODULE 2 OF 6

Greetings and Relationships

Los saludos y las relaciones

A warm, accurate greeting is the fastest way to build a relationship. Learn greetings for every time of day, and learn when to use tú with students and usted with adults.

Learning goals

- Greet students and adults correctly for the time of day.
- Choose tú for one student and usted for an adult.
- Use titles and family words that show respect.
- Build short greeting routines for arrival, dismissal, and a student's return after an absence.

Mini-lesson

Greetings by time of day

Greeting	Pronunciation	When to use it
Buenos días.	BWEH-nohs DEE-ahs	Morning, until about noon
Buenas tardes.	BWEH-nahs TAHR-dehs	Afternoon, from about noon until dark
Buenas noches.	BWEH-nahs NOH-chehs	Evening and night; also used as good night
¡Hola!	OH-lah	Any time; friendly and informal

Notice buenos with días but buenas with tardes and noches. Día is a masculine word, and tarde and noche are feminine words, so the describing word changes to match.

Tú or usted?

Spanish has two common ways to say "you" to one person. Tú is familiar. Usted is respectful and formal. As a teacher, you will use tú with a student and usted with parents, grandparents, colleagues, and other adults.

	Tú (one student)	Usted (one adult)
How are you?	¿Cómo estás?	¿Cómo está usted?
And you?	¿Y tú?	¿Y usted?
Have a good day.	Que tengas un buen día.	Que tenga un buen día.
your (book)	tu libro	su libro

Many students will use usted with you. That is a sign of respect, not distance. If you are unsure which form to use with an adult, choose usted. It is never rude.

Titles and relationship words

- Señor (Sr.), señora (Sra.), and señorita (Srta.) are used with a last name or on their own: "Buenos días, señora."
- Students from many Latin American schools call a teacher Maestro, Maestra, Profesor, Profesora, or simply "Teacher." This is a respectful title, not a sign that the student forgot your name.
- Useful family words: mamá (mom), papá (dad), abuela (grandmother), abuelo (grandfather), tía (aunt), tío (uncle), hermana (sister), hermano (brother), prima / primo (cousin), familia (family).
- Many children are cared for or picked up by grandparents, aunts, uncles, or older cousins. Greet every family adult with the same warmth and respect.

What students may say back

Student says	Meaning	You can answer
Bien, gracias.	Fine, thanks.	¡Qué bueno! (KEH BWEH-noh) Great!
Más o menos.	So-so.	¿Por qué? (pohr KEH) Why?
Mal. / Estoy cansado.	Bad. / I'm tired.	Lo siento. (loh SYEHN-toh) I'm sorry.
¿Y usted, maestra?	And you, teacher?	Muy bien, gracias. (MOOY BYEHN) Very well.

Phrases to know

English	Spanish	Say it
Good morning.	Buenos días.	BWEH-nohs DEE-ahs
Good afternoon.	Buenas tardes.	BWEH-nahs TAHR-dehs
Hello!	¡Hola!	OH-lah
How are you? (to a student)	¿Cómo estás?	KOH-moh ehs-TAHS
How are you? (to an adult)	¿Cómo está usted?	KOH-moh ehs-TAH oos-TEHD
Fine, thank you. And you?	Bien, gracias. ¿Y tú?	BYEHN, GRAH-syahs. ee TOO
Welcome to class. (to a boy / to a girl)	Bienvenido a la clase. / Bienvenida a la clase.	byehn-beh-NEE-doh / byehn-beh-NEE-dah ah lah KLAH-seh
I'm your teacher. (male / female)	Soy tu maestro. / Soy tu maestra.	SOY too mah-EHS-troh / mah-EHS-trah
I'm glad you are here.	Me alegra que estés aquí.	meh ah-LEH-grah keh ehs-TEHS ah-KEE
We missed you.	Te extrañamos.	teh ehks-trah-NYAH-mohs
How was your weekend?	¿Qué tal tu fin de semana?	KEH TAHL too FEEN deh seh-MAH-nah
Who is picking you up today?	¿Quién te recoge hoy?	KYEHN teh rreh-KOH-heh OY
See you tomorrow.	Hasta mañana.	AHS-tah mah-NYAH-nah
See you Monday.	Hasta el lunes.	AHS-tah ehl LOO-nehs
Have a good day.	Que tengas un buen día.	keh TEHN-gahs oon BWEHN DEE-ah
Goodbye.	Adiós.	ah-DYOHS

Cultural and teaching tip: The greeting at the door

In many Spanish-speaking families, children learn to greet each adult when they enter a room. A greeting by name at your door, in Spanish and then in English, meets that expectation and starts each class with a personal connection.

Moll et al. (1992) showed that students' households hold rich funds of knowledge: skills, practices, and experiences that teachers can learn about and build on. A daily greeting is the first step toward learning what your students bring from home.

In some families, children show respect to adults by lowering their eyes. Do not assume that a student who looks down while you speak is being rude or is not listening.

Module 2 Practice

Activity 1 · MATCHING The right greeting

Match each situation to the best thing to say.

1. 8:00 a.m., students arrive	____	a. Hasta el lunes.
2. 2:30 p.m., class begins	____	b. Buenas tardes, señora. ¿Cómo está usted?
3. A student returns after being out sick	____	c. Buenos días.
4. Friday dismissal	____	d. Bienvenido a la clase.
5. A mother arrives at 3:15 p.m. pickup	____	e. Te extrañamos. Me alegra que estés aquí.
6. A new student's first day (a boy)	____	f. Buenas tardes.

Activity 2 · FILL-IN Tú or usted?

Complete each sentence with the correct word.

1. (to a student) ¿Cómo _____?

2. (to a student's grandfather) ¿Cómo está _____?

3. (to a student) Que _____ un buen día.

4. (to a parent) Que _____ un buen día.

5. (to the principal) Bien, gracias. ¿Y _____?

6. (to a new girl) Bienvenid____ a la clase.

Activity 3 · SCENARIO What would you say?

Write what you would say in Spanish. Add a note about what you would do.

1. Monday morning. Luis walks in slowly and looks sleepy.

---

2. Señora Ruiz arrives early for afternoon pickup and waits by your door.

---

3. A newcomer says, "Good morning, Teacher," every day instead of using your name. A colleague says this is rude. What do you think?

Activity 4 · PARTNER ROLE-PLAY Door greeting, two ways

Round 1: Partner A is the teacher at the door and Partner B is a student. Round 2: Partner B is a parent at pickup, so the teacher switches to usted. Then switch roles.

Teacher	Buenos días, Daniela. ¿Cómo estás?
Student	Más o menos.
Teacher	Lo siento. Me alegra que estés aquí.
Teacher (Round 2)	Buenas tardes, señor. ¿Cómo está usted?
Parent	Bien, gracias. ¿Y usted?
Teacher	Muy bien, gracias. Hasta mañana.

Self-check:

☐ Greeting matches the time of day
☐ Tú with the student, usted with the adult
☐ Used a name or title
☐ Warm tone

Activity 5 · SPEAK ALOUD Pure vowels

Say each phrase aloud three times. Record yourself and listen for short, pure vowels: BWEH, not "BWAY."

Buenos días.

Buenas tardes.

¿Cómo está usted?

Te extrañamos.

¿Quién te recoge hoy?

Que tengas un buen día.

Module 2 Quiz

1. At 1:30 p.m., you greet a class with:

A. Buenos días.
B. Buenas tardes.
C. Buenas noches.
D. Hasta mañana.

2. Which question do you use with a student's grandmother?

A. ¿Cómo estás?
B. ¿Qué tal, amiga?
C. ¿Cómo está usted?
D. ¿Y tú?

3. A student calls you "Maestra" instead of using your last name. This is usually:

A. Disrespectful
B. A respectful title used in many schools
C. A joke
D. A mistake to correct right away

4. "Te extrañamos" means:

A. We missed you.
B. See you tomorrow.

C. Welcome.
D. Who is picking you up?

5. To welcome a new girl to class, say:

A. Bienvenido a la clase.
B. Bienvenidos a la clase.
C. Bien a la clase.
D. Bienvenida a la clase.

Module 2 Cheat Sheet

When they answer

Bien / Muy bien	Fine / Very well
Más o menos	So-so
Mal / Cansado	Bad / Tired
Lo siento.	I'm sorry.

Family words

mamá / papá	mom / dad
abuela / abuelo	grandma / grandpa
tía / tío	aunt / uncle
hermana / hermano	sister / brother

MODULE 3 OF 6

Classroom Directions

Las instrucciones en clase

Short, clear directions help newcomers follow along from day one. Learn to give a direction to one student (tú), to the whole class (ustedes), and to an adult (usted).

Learning goals

- Give common classroom directions to one student and to the whole class.
- Explain the pattern that turns a tú command into an ustedes command.
- Use usted commands politely with families and other adults.
- Pair short directions with gestures, visuals, and por favor.

Mini-lesson

Three ways to say "you" in a command

Form	Use it with	"Sit down"
tú	One student	Siéntate. (SYEHN-tah-teh)
ustedes	Two or more people: a group of students or the whole class	Siéntense. (SYEHN-tehn-seh)
usted	One adult: a parent, grandparent, or colleague	Siéntese. (SYEHN-teh-seh)

In Latin America, ustedes is the everyday plural "you" for any group, friends or strangers. In Spain you may also hear vosotros. Your students will understand ustedes, and it is the form this course uses.

The pattern: from one student to the whole class

Most one-student commands look like the "he/she" form of the verb: escucha, mira, escribe, lee. To speak to the whole class, switch the final vowel and add -n:

Verb type	One student (tú)	Whole class (ustedes)
-ar verbs: a becomes en	Escucha. Mira. Trabaja.	Escuchen. Miren. Trabajen.
-er and -ir verbs: e becomes an	Lee. Escribe. Abre.	Lean. Escriban. Abran.

A few common verbs are irregular. Learn them as whole chunks: Ven / Vengan (Come), Haz / Hagan (Do, Make), Pon / Pongan (Put), Sal / Salgan (Go out). Some spelling changes keep the sound the same: Saca becomes Saquen (Take out).

Words that attach to the end

Some commands carry a small word on the end, such as te, se, or me: Siéntate (Sit down), Levántense (Stand up), Muéstrame (Show me). When the word gets longer, Spanish adds a written accent to keep the stress in the same place. Always include that accent on posters and slides.

Softening a command

- Add por favor (pohr fah-BOHR): Siéntense, por favor.
- Use Vamos a + verb (Let's ___) to include yourself: Vamos a leer (BAH-mohs ah leh-EHR), Let's read.
- Use a calm, normal voice. Speaking louder does not make a new language easier to understand; slowing down and gesturing does.

Using usted with adults

- Pase, por favor. (PAH-seh) Come in, please.
- Siéntese, por favor. (SYEHN-teh-seh) Have a seat, please.
- Espere un momento, por favor. (ehs-PEH-reh oon moh-MEHN-toh) Wait a moment, please.
- Firme aquí, por favor. (FEER-meh ah-KEE) Sign here, please.
- Sígame, por favor. (SEE-gah-meh) Follow me, please.

Phrases to know

English	One student (tú)	Say it	Whole class (ustedes)	Say it

Line up.	Haz fila.	AHS FEE-lah	Hagan fila.	AH-gahn FEE-lah

Cultural and teaching tip: Say it, show it, post it

Pair every direction with the same gesture every time: a flat hand moving down for siéntense, a cupped ear for escuchen, an open-book motion for abran sus libros. Consistency lets newcomers act on a direction before they know every word.

Post a bilingual direction wall with an icon, the English, and the Spanish for your ten most common directions. Point to it as you speak. Over time, students will connect the English words to the routine and need the Spanish less.

Use Spanish as a bridge, not a replacement. Give the direction in English with a gesture, then in Spanish if needed. As routines become familiar, use less Spanish for them.

Module 3 Practice

Activity 1 · MATCHING Directions to one student

Match each English direction to the Spanish tú command.

1. Sit down.	____	a. Haz fila.
2. Listen.	____	b. Abre tu libro.
3. Write.	____	c. Escucha.
4. Raise your hand.	____	d. Siéntate.
5. Line up.	____	e. Levanta la mano.
6. Open your book.	____	f. Escribe.

Activity 2 · FILL-IN Now tell the whole class

Change each one-student command into a whole-class (ustedes) command.

1. Escucha. → _____

2. Mira. → _____

3. Escribe. → _____

4. Lee. → _____

5. Abre tu libro. → _____

6. Siéntate. → _____

7. Ven aquí. → _____

8. Saca un lápiz. → _____

Activity 3 · SCENARIO Tú, ustedes, or usted?

Circle the form you need, then write the command in Spanish.

1. Tell Marco to sit down. (tú / ustedes / usted)

---

2. Tell the whole class to take out a pencil. (tú / ustedes / usted)

---

3. Invite a student's father into your room. (tú / ustedes / usted)

---

4. Tell two students to work together. (tú / ustedes / usted)

5. Ask a grandmother to wait a moment. (tú / ustedes / usted)

6. Ask Ana to show you her work. (tú / ustedes / usted)

Activity 4 · PARTNER ROLE-PLAY Simón dice (Simon Says)

Play with a partner or small group. The leader gives commands, using tú when naming one person and ustedes for everyone. Players act only when they hear "Simón dice." Rotate leaders every five commands.

Leader	Simón dice: levántense.
Leader	Simón dice: miren la puerta.
Leader	Simón dice: Ana, levanta la mano.
Leader	Siéntense. (No one moves. Simón no lo dijo.)
Leader	Simón dice: siéntense, por favor.

Self-check:

☐ -n ending for the group
☐ Tú form for one person
☐ Stress in Siéntate / Siéntense
☐ Matching gesture each time

Activity 5 · SPEAK ALOUD A morning routine script

Read this opening routine aloud as if your class were in front of you. Add a gesture for each line.

Buenos días. Siéntense, por favor.
Saquen un lápiz.
Abran sus libros en la página diez.
Escuchen.
Levanten la mano si tienen una pregunta.
Muy bien. Vamos a empezar.

Module 3 Quiz

1. To tell one student to listen, say:

A. Escuchen.
B. Escucha.
C. Escuche.

D. Escuchar.

2. To tell the whole class to write, say:

A. Escribe.
B. Escribir.
C. Escribes.
D. Escriban.

3. Which form do you use to ask a parent to sit down?

A. Siéntese, por favor.
B. Siéntate, por favor.
C. Siéntense, por favor.
D. Sentar, por favor.

4. "Levanten la mano" means:

A. Stand up.
B. Raise your hand. (to the class)
C. Wash your hands.
D. Line up.

5. In most US classrooms with students from Latin America, the everyday plural "you" is:

A. vosotros
B. tú
C. ustedes
D. usted

To adults (usted)

Pase, por favor.	Come in, please.
Siéntese, por favor.	Have a seat, please.
Espere un momento.	Wait a moment.
Sígame, por favor.	Follow me, please.

Make it easy

- Same gesture every time
- Add por favor
- Slow down; don't get louder
- Point to the direction wall

MODULE 4 OF 6

Praise, Support, and Checking In

Elogios, apoyo y bienestar

Encouragement in a student's home language can ease anxiety and build trust. Learn to praise effort specifically, support a student after a mistake, check understanding, and check in on well-being.

Learning goals

- Give specific praise that names the effort or strategy.
- Encourage a student to keep trying after a mistake.
- Check for understanding without relying on "Do you understand?"
- Check in on how a student feels, and know when to bring in help.

Mini-lesson

Make praise specific

¡Muy bien! is a good start. Praise becomes more powerful when it names what the student did. Two simple frames work in any subject:

- ¡Buen trabajo con ___! (BWEHN trah-BAH-hoh kohn) Great job with ___! Example: ¡Buen trabajo con las fracciones!
- Me gusta cómo ___. (meh GOOS-tah KOH-moh) I like how you ___. Example: Me gusta cómo explicaste tu idea. (I like how you explained your idea.)
- Praise effort, not just answers: Trabajaste mucho. (trah-bah-HAHS-teh MOO-choh) You worked hard.

Words that change for boys and girls

Many describing words end in -o for a male and -a for a female. When you describe yourself, match your own gender: a male teacher says Estoy orgulloso de ti; a female teacher says Estoy orgullosa de ti. When you describe a student, match the student: ¿Estás cansado? (to a boy), ¿Estás cansada? (to a girl). Words ending in -e or a consonant, like triste, excelente, and feliz, do not change.

Check understanding the smart way

If you ask "¿Entiendes?" (Do you understand?), many students will politely say "sí" even when they are lost. Ask students to show you instead:

- ¿Pulgar arriba o pulgar abajo? (pool-GAHR ah-RREE-bah oh pool-GAHR ah-BAH-hoh) Thumbs up or thumbs down?
- Muéstrame con los dedos, del uno al cinco. (MWEHS-trah-meh kohn lohs DEH-dohs, dehl OO-noh ahl SEEN-koh) Show me with your fingers, one to five.
- ¿Qué vas a hacer primero? (KEH BAHS ah ah-SEHR pree-MEH-roh) What are you going to do first?
- Muéstrame. (MWEHS-trah-meh) Show me. Let the student point to the first step.

Tell students they can answer in either language: Puedes contestar en español o en inglés.

Check in on feelings

English	Spanish (boy / girl)	Pronunciation
happy	feliz	feh-LEES
sad	triste	TREES-teh
tired	cansado / cansada	kahn-SAH-doh / kahn-SAH-dah nervous	nervioso / nerviosa	nehr-BYOH-soh / nehr-BYOH-sah
worried	preocupado / preocupada	preh-oh-koo-PAH-doh / -dah
angry	enojado / enojada	eh-noh-HAH-doh / eh-noh-HAH-dah
sick	enfermo / enferma	ehn-FEHR-moh / ehn-FEHR-mah
so-so	más o menos	MAHS oh MEH-nohs
I'm hungry. / I'm sleepy.	Tengo hambre. / Tengo sueño.	TEHN-goh AHM-breh / TEHN-goh SWEH-nyoh

When a check-in becomes serious

- If a student says or shows anything that suggests harm, abuse, danger, or a threat to self or others, follow your school's reporting procedures right away.
- Bring in your counselor or administrator and a qualified interpreter. Do not try to handle a serious disclosure with limited Spanish, and never ask another student to interpret.
- Do not promise to keep a secret. You can say: Estoy aquí para ayudarte. (I'm here to help you.)

Cultural and teaching tip: Quiet is not the same as disengaged

Many new English learners go through a quiet period when they listen far more than they speak. This is a normal part of learning a language. Offer ways to participate without speaking: pointing, gestures, thumbs, drawing, or choosing between two answers.

Some students love public praise; others feel embarrassed by it. Watch how each student responds. A quiet "¡Buen trabajo!" at a desk can mean more than a shout-out.

Cummins (2001) argues that the way teachers interact with students sends a message about whether their language and identity are valued. A few words of encouragement in Spanish tell a student that who they are is welcome in your classroom.

Module 4 Practice

Activity 1 · MATCHING The right words at the right moment

Match each classroom moment to the best phrase.

1. A student solves a hard problem.	____	a. ¿Qué vas a hacer primero?
2. A student gets a wrong answer and looks frustrated.	____	b. Tómate tu tiempo.
3. A student is working slowly but carefully.	____	c. ¡Excelente! ¡Buen trabajo!
4. You want to check that a student understood the directions.	____	d. ¿Estás bien? ¿Quieres ir a la enfermería?
5. A student looks pale and holds her stomach.	____	e. Estoy orgulloso / orgullosa de ti.
6. A student has turned in every assignment this week.	____	f. Inténtalo otra vez. Tú puedes.

Activity 2 · FILL-IN Complete the phrase

Write the missing word. Watch for -o and -a endings.

1. (a female teacher) Estoy _____ de ti. (proud)

2. (to a boy) ¿Estás _____? (tired)

3. (to a girl) ¿Estás _____? (nervous)

4. ¿Necesitas _____? (help)

5. Los errores nos ayudan a _____. (learn)

6. Puedes contestar en español o en _____. (English)

Activity 3 · SCENARIO What would you do?

Write what you would say and do in each situation.

1. You ask Mateo "¿Entiendes?" He says "Sí," but two minutes later he has not started.

---

2. Lucía puts her head on her desk. When you ask "¿Estás bien?" she says, "Estoy triste."

---

3. During a check-in, a student says something that makes you worry someone at home is hurting him.

Activity 4 · PARTNER ROLE-PLAY Desk-side check-in Partner A is the teacher; Partner B is a student working on a task. The teacher checks feelings, checks understanding without "¿Entiendes?", and gives specific praise. Then switch.

Teacher	Hola, Carlos. ¿Cómo te sientes hoy?
Student	Más o menos. Estoy cansado.
Teacher	Lo siento. ¿Qué vas a hacer primero?
Student	(points to step 1)
Teacher	¡Muy bien! Muéstrame con los dedos, del uno al cinco.
Student	(shows four fingers)
Teacher	¡Buen trabajo con el primer paso! ¡Sigue así!

Self-check:

☐ Feelings check-in ☐ Understanding check without ¿Entiendes?
☐ Specific praise
☐ Correct -o / -a ending

Activity 5 · SPEAK ALOUD The praise ladder

Say each line aloud with real enthusiasm. Stress the capitalized syllable in the respelling.

¡Muy bien!

¡Excelente!

¡Buen trabajo!

¡Sigue así!

Tú puedes.

Los errores nos ayudan a aprender.

Module 4 Quiz

1. Which is the best way to check whether a student understood the directions?

A. Ask only "¿Entiendes?"
B. Ask "¿Qué vas a hacer primero?"
C. Ask "¿Estás bien?"
D. Say "¡Muy bien!"

2. A female teacher wants to say "I'm proud of you." She says:

A. Estoy orgulloso de ti.
B. Eres orgullosa.
C. Estoy orgullosa de ti.
D. Estás orgulloso.

3. "Tómate tu tiempo" means:

A. Hurry up.
B. Take your time.
C. It's time to go.
D. What time is it?

4. A student says "Tengo sueño." She is:

A. sleepy
B. hungry
C. sad
D. sick

5. A student says something that suggests possible harm at home. You should:

A. Ask many follow-up questions in Spanish
B. Ask a bilingual classmate to help
C. Wait to see if it happens again
D. Follow your school's reporting procedures right away and involve qualified staff and an interpreter

Feelings (boy / girl)

feliz / triste	happy / sad
cansado / cansada	tired
nervioso / nerviosa	nervous
enfermo / enferma	sick
más o menos	so-so

Serious concern? Stop and get help.

- Follow reporting procedures right away. Involve the counselor or administrator and a qualified interpreter. Never use a student to interpret. Do not promise secrecy.

MODULE 5 OF 6

Academic Language

El lenguaje académico

Your students' Spanish is a resource for learning content. Use cognates, watch for false cognates, offer bilingual sentence frames, and plan routines that let students think in one language and produce in another.

Learning goals

- Use Spanish-English cognates to make content vocabulary more accessible.
- Recognize common false cognates and prevent confusion.
- Provide bilingual sentence frames for academic talk and writing.
- Run a Talk Then Write routine in which students may think and talk in either language.
- Plan a Preview-View-Review lesson.

Mini-lesson

Why the home language helps

Cummins (2001) describes how concepts and skills learned in one language support learning in another. A student who already understands photosynthesis or fractions in Spanish does not need to relearn the idea, only the English words for it. García, Johnson, and Seltzer (2017) describe translanguaging: students draw on their whole language repertoire to make meaning, and teachers can plan lessons that invite this on purpose. You do not need to be fluent in Spanish to open that door.

Cognates: words that are shared

Cognates are words that look alike, sound alike, and mean the same thing in two languages. Much academic English comes from Latin, so many content words have close Spanish relatives. Spelling patterns make them easy to spot:

English ending	Spanish ending	Example
-tion	-ción	evaporation / evaporación
-ty	-dad	community / comunidad
-ous	-oso	famous / famoso
-ly	-mente	finally / finalmente
-ic	-ico	electric / eléctrico
-ist	-ista	artist / artista
-ent, -ant	-ente, -ante	different / diferente; important / importante

Cognates by subject

Math	Science	Social Studies	ELA
ecuación (equation)	célula (cell)	constitución	narrador (narrator)

Math	Science	Social Studies	ELA
		(constitution) fracción (fraction)	energía (energy)	democracia (democracy)	conflicto (conflict)
triángulo (triangle)	hipótesis (hypothesis)	colonia (colony)	poema (poem)
área (area)	experimento (experiment)	revolución (revolution)	párrafo (paragraph) multiplicar (multiply)	observar (observe)	presidente (president)	describir (describe)
problema (problem)	planeta (planet)	economía (economy)	comparar (compare)

Pronunciation: ecuación (eh-kwah-SYOHN), célula (SEH-loo-lah), hipótesis (ee-POH-teh-sees), constitución (kohns-tee-too-SYOHN), párrafo (PAH-rrah-foh).

Make cognates explicit. Say, "This word is a cognate," write both words, and color-code cognates on your word wall. Students with strong schooling in Spanish will often recognize academic cognates quickly. Students whose schooling was interrupted may not know the Spanish academic word either, so teach the concept in both languages.

False cognates: look-alikes that fool you

Spanish word	Really means	Not	For the English meaning, use
embarazada	pregnant	embarrassed	avergonzado / avergonzada
éxito	success	exit	salida
librería	bookstore	library	biblioteca
carpeta	folder	carpet	alfombra
actual	current, present-day	actual (real)	real, verdadero
realizar	to carry out	to realize	darse cuenta
asistir	to attend	to assist	ayudar
lectura	reading	lecture	conferencia, clase
recordar	to remember, to remind	to record	grabar
sopa	soup	soap	jabón

Bilingual sentence frames

English frame	Spanish frame	Pronunciation
I think ___ because ___.	Creo que ___ porque ___.	KREH-oh keh … POHR-keh
I agree with ___ because ___.	Estoy de acuerdo con ___ porque ___.	ehs-TOY deh ah-KWEHR-doh kohn
I disagree because ___.	No estoy de acuerdo porque ___.	NOH ehs-TOY deh ah-KWEHR-doh
I notice that ___.	Noto que ___.	NOH-toh keh
I wonder ___.	Me pregunto ___.	meh preh-GOON-toh
___ is similar to ___ because ___.	___ es parecido a ___ porque ___.	ehs pah-reh-SEE-doh ah

First, ___. Then, ___. Finally, ___.	Primero, ___. Luego, ___. Por último, ___.	pree-MEH-roh, LWEH-goh, pohr OOL-tee-moh

Talk Then Write

Talk Then Write gives students time to build an idea orally, in any language, before they write in English.

1. Pose the question and post a bilingual sentence frame.
2. Think time: Piensa. (PYEHN-sah) Give about 30 seconds of quiet thinking.
3. Talk with a partner in Spanish, English, or both: Habla con tu compañero. Puedes usar español o inglés.
4. Share aloud using the frame, in English if the student is ready.
5. Write: Ahora, escribe. Students write in English. Newcomers may draft in Spanish or mix languages first, then revise with the frame and a word bank.

Preview-View-Review

Preview (Spanish)	View (English)	Review (Spanish or both)
Before the lesson, students get the big idea and three to five key words in Spanish: a short bilingual summary, a picture, a video, or a partner talk.	Teach the main lesson in English with visuals, gestures, and cognates highlighted. Students now have a map for what they hear.	After the lesson, students summarize with a partner in Spanish, complete a bilingual exit ticket, or answer "¿Qué aprendiste hoy?"

For Spanish previews, use reputable bilingual materials, bilingual colleagues, or a translated summary checked by a fluent speaker. Bilingual classmates can be wonderful learning partners in Preview and Review, but they are partners, not interpreters.

Phrases to know

English	Spanish	Say it
Today we are going to learn about ___.	Hoy vamos a aprender sobre ___.	OY BAH-mohs ah ah-prehn-DEHR SOH-breh
Key words	Palabras clave	pah-LAH-brahs KLAH-beh

Give an example.	Da un ejemplo.	DAH oon eh-HEHM-ploh
Why?	¿Por qué?	pohr KEH
What did you learn today?	¿Qué aprendiste hoy?	KEH ah-prehn-DEES-teh OY

Cultural and teaching tip: Spanish is a resource, not a crutch

Letting students think and talk in Spanish does not hold back their English. It lets them do grade-level thinking while their English grows, and gives them something worth saying when they write in English.

Do not translate every sentence of your lesson. When everything is repeated in Spanish, some students learn to wait for the Spanish and stop listening to the English. Use Spanish strategically: to preview, to clarify a key concept, and to review.

Build a multilingual word wall with cognates color-coded. Invite students to add words and pictures, and to teach you the Spanish.

Module 5 Practice

Activity 1 · MATCHING False cognates

Match each Spanish word to what it really means.

1. embarazada	____	a. folder
2. éxito	____	b. soup
3. librería	____	c. pregnant
4. carpeta	____	d. to attend
5. asistir	____	e. success
6. sopa	____	f. bookstore

Activity 2 · FILL-IN Crack the cognate code

Use the spelling patterns to write the Spanish cognate.

1. population → _____

2. equality → _____

3. nervous → _____

4. finally → _____

5. electric → _____

6. dentist → _____

7. important → _____

8. evaporation → _____

Activity 3 · SCENARIO Plan a Preview-View-Review

You teach a 7th-grade science lesson on the water cycle. Two students are newcomers from Honduras with strong schooling in Spanish. Plan each part.

1. Preview (Spanish): What will students see, hear, or read before the lesson? List three to five key words.

---

2. View (English): How will you make the main lesson accessible?

---

3. Review (Spanish or both): How will students show what they learned?

Activity 4 · PARTNER ROLE-PLAY Talk Then Write

Run the routine with a partner. Partner A is the teacher and uses the Spanish teacher phrases. Partner B is the student and answers with a sentence frame. Then both write two sentences in English. Switch roles with a new question.

Teacher	¿Qué es más importante para una comunidad: un parque o una biblioteca? Piensa.
Teacher	Habla con tu compañero. Puedes usar español o inglés.
Student	Creo que una biblioteca es más importante porque …
Teacher	¿Por qué? Da un ejemplo.
Teacher	Muy bien. Usa el marco de oración. Ahora, escribe.

Self-check:

☐ Think time given
☐ Either language invited
☐ Frame used aloud
☐ Written in English with the frame

Activity 5 · SPEAK ALOUD Cognate read-aloud

Read each cognate aloud in Spanish, then in English. Notice how the stressed syllable often moves.

ecuación
fracción célula energía hipótesis democracia revolución párrafo

Module 5 Quiz

1. Which pair is a true cognate (same meaning)?

A. éxito / exit
B. carpeta / carpet
C. célula / cell
D. librería / library

2. "Embarazada" means:

A. embarrassed
B. pregnant
C. busy
D. tired

3. The English ending -ty usually becomes:

A. -ción
B. -mente

C. -oso
D. -dad

4. In Talk Then Write, students:

A. Think and talk in either language, then write using a frame
B. Must talk only in English
C. Write first, in silence
D. Copy the teacher's answer

5. In Preview-View-Review, the "View" step is:

A. A Spanish summary before the lesson
B. The main lesson in English with visuals and cognates
C. A test
D. A homework video

MODULE 6 OF 6

Talking with Families

Hablar con las familias

Families are your partners. Learn to make a short good-news call, welcome families to a conference, and recognize when your Spanish should stop and a qualified interpreter should take over.

Learning goals

- Make a short good-news phone call or leave a voicemail in Spanish.
- Welcome families and open a conference using usted.
- Recognize when to stop and bring in a qualified interpreter.
- Explain why students should never interpret for their own families or for others.
- Protect families by never asking about immigration status.

Mini-lesson

Start with good news

Many families hear from school only when something is wrong. A first call that brings good news builds trust before any problem comes up. Say "Todo está bien" (Everything is fine) early, so the parent can relax and listen.

Step	Spanish	English
1	Buenas tardes. ¿Hablo con la mamá de Daniela?	Good afternoon. Am I speaking with Daniela's mom?
2	Habla la maestra Smith, la maestra de Daniela.	This is Ms. Smith, Daniela's teacher.
3	Todo está bien. Le llamo con buenas noticias.	Everything is fine. I'm calling with good news.
4	Daniela trabajó mucho hoy en matemáticas.	Daniela worked hard today in math.
5	Gracias por su apoyo.	Thank you for your support.
6	Que tenga un buen día. Adiós.	Have a good day. Goodbye.

A male teacher says el maestro: "Habla el maestro Smith, el maestro de Daniela." Other good news to share: ayudó a un compañero (helped a classmate), participó en clase (participated in class), terminó su proyecto (finished the project).

> Voicemail script
>
> - Buenas tardes. Le llama la maestra Smith, la maestra de Daniela. Todo está bien. Le llamo con buenas noticias: Daniela trabajó mucho hoy. Gracias. Adiós.
> - (Good afternoon. This is Ms. Smith, Daniela's teacher. Everything is fine. I'm calling with good news: Daniela worked hard today. Thank you. Goodbye.)

Welcoming families to a conference

- Arrange a qualified interpreter ahead of time for any full conference unless you are fluent. Ask the family their preferred language when you schedule.
- Open the meeting yourself in Spanish: Bienvenidos. Pase, por favor. Siéntese, por favor. It shows respect even when the interpreter does the rest.
- Look at and speak to the parent, not the interpreter. Say "Your daughter is reading more," not "Tell her that her daughter..."
- Use short sentences and pause often so the interpreter can keep up. Explain or avoid acronyms and jargon such as IEP, MTSS, or benchmark.
- Bring student work to show progress. Ask about strengths at home: ¿Qué le gusta hacer a Daniela en casa? (What does Daniela like to do at home?) Moll et al. (1992) found that families' everyday knowledge and skills are valuable resources for teaching.

When to use a qualified interpreter

Your Spanish phrases are for greetings, good news, and simple logistics. For anything serious, use a qualified interpreter, in person, by phone, or by video. Under federal civil rights law, schools must communicate with families who have limited English in a language they can understand. Ask your school how to request an interpreter.

Your Spanish phrases are fine for	Always use a qualified interpreter for
Greetings and introductions	Grades, failing, or retention
Good-news calls and voicemails	Discipline, suspension, or behavior plans
Reminders: picture day, a field trip, a schedule	Special education: evaluations, IEP and 504 meetings
Opening and closing a conference	Health, safety, attendance, or counseling concerns
Asking for a good time to call back	Anything legal, custody-related, or emotional

Never use students as interpreters

- Do not ask a student, a sibling, or another child to interpret for a family, even if the student offers and even for something that seems simple.
- It places a child in an adult role and can add stress. A child may not know the vocabulary and may soften or change a message, especially one about their own grades or behavior. It also takes away the family's privacy.
- Say kindly: Gracias, pero vamos a usar un intérprete. (Thank you, but we are going to use an interpreter.)

Never ask about immigration status

- In Plyler v. Doe (1982), the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that public schools may not deny children a free K-12 education because of their immigration status.
- Do not ask students or families about citizenship, "papers," or immigration status, and do not comment on it. Questions like these can frighten families and keep children away from school.
- Follow your district's enrollment procedures. If a family shares information about status, keep it confidential and do not repeat or record it.

Cultural and teaching tip: Respect, flexibility, and partnership

Use usted, titles, and last names with family members unless they invite you to do otherwise. Greet everyone who comes, including grandparents and younger siblings.

Ask each family how and when they prefer to be contacted: phone, text, a messaging app, or notes home. Many parents work long or changing hours, so offer a few different times.

See families as experts on their children. Ask what the child is good at, what they enjoy at home, and what the family hopes for this year. Then use what you learn in your teaching.

Module 6 Practice

Activity 1 · SEQUENCING Put the good-news call in order

Number the lines from 1 to 6 to build a good-news phone call.

____ Gracias por su apoyo.

____ Habla la maestra Smith, la maestra de Daniela.

____ Que tenga un buen día. Adiós.

____ Buenas tardes. ¿Hablo con la mamá de Daniela?

____ Daniela trabajó mucho hoy en matemáticas.

____ Todo está bien. Le llamo con buenas noticias.

Activity 2 · FILL-IN Family phrases

Write the missing word.

1. Todo está _____. (fine)

2. Le llamo con buenas _____. (news)

3. Gracias por su _____. (support)

4. Que _____ un buen día. (to a parent)

5. ¿Quiere un _____? (interpreter)

6. Pase, por _____. (please)

Activity 3 · SCENARIO My Spanish, or an interpreter?

For each situation, write P (my phrases are fine) or I (qualified interpreter needed), and explain what you would do.

1. You want to tell a mom that her daughter helped a new classmate today.

---

2. You need to explain to a father why his son was suspended.

---

3. You want to remind a family that picture day is tomorrow.

---

4. A meeting is scheduled to discuss a special education evaluation.

---

5. A student says, "I can translate for my mom at the conference about my grades."

---

6. A front-office worker asks you to find out whether a new family is "legal."

Activity 4 · PARTNER ROLE-PLAY Opening a conference with an interpreter

Work in groups of three: teacher, parent, and interpreter. The teacher opens in Spanish, then speaks directly to the parent in short English sentences while the interpreter interprets. Rotate roles.

Teacher	Buenas tardes, señora. Bienvenida. Pase, por favor. Siéntese, por favor.
Teacher	Un intérprete nos va a ayudar.
Teacher (in English)	Thank you for coming. Daniela is a hard worker.
Interpreter	(interprets)
Teacher	What does Daniela like to do at home?
Teacher (closing)	¿Tiene preguntas? … Gracias por su apoyo.

Self-check:

- ☐ Usted throughout
- ☐ Eyes and words to the parent
- ☐ Short sentences, pauses
- ☐ Asked about strengths at home

Activity 5 · SPEAK ALOUD Leave a voicemail

Fill in your name and a student's first name, then leave a practice voicemail on your own phone. Play it back and check your vowels and stress.

Buenas tardes.

Le llama la maestra / el maestro _____, la maestra / el maestro de _____.

Todo está bien.

Le llamo con buenas noticias: _____ trabajó mucho hoy.

Gracias. Adiós.

Module 6 Quiz

1. Early in a good-news call, you should say:

A. Tenemos un problema.
B. Todo está bien.
C. ¿Tiene papeles?
D. Hasta mañana.

2. Who should interpret a conference about failing grades?

A. The student

B. An older sibling
C. Another parent in the hallway
D. A qualified interpreter

3. When you work with an interpreter, you should:

A. Look at and speak directly to the parent
B. Say "Tell her that…"
C. Talk quickly to save time
D. Speak only to the interpreter

4. Asking a family about immigration status is:

A. Required at enrollment
B. Fine if you are friendly about it
C. Something to avoid; children have a right to a public K-12 education regardless of status
D. Only for newcomers

5. To ask a parent to have a seat, say:

A. Siéntate, por favor.
B. Siéntense, por favor.
C. Siéntese, por favor.
D. Sentarse, por favor.

Module 6 Cheat Sheet

Talking with Families · Hablar con las familias

Good-news call

Conference

Bienvenidos. Pase, por favor.	Welcome. Come in.
Siéntese, por favor.	Have a seat.
Un intérprete nos va a ayudar.	An interpreter will help us.
¿Tiene preguntas?	Any questions?

Interpreter phrases

¿Qué idioma prefiere?	Preferred language?
¿Quiere un intérprete?	Want an interpreter?
Le vuelvo a llamar con un intérprete.	I'll call back with an interpreter.
Gracias, pero vamos a usar un intérprete.	Thanks, but we'll use an interpreter.

Interpreter required

- Grades, failing, retention
- Discipline or suspension
- Special education, IEP, 504
- Health, safety, counseling
- Legal or custody matters

Two rules, no exceptions

- Never use students or siblings as interpreters.
- Never ask about immigration status (Plyler v. Doe, 1982).

Final Assessment

Role-Play Stations · La prueba final

This performance task brings the six modules together. Work with a partner who plays the student or family member and, if possible, a third colleague who observes and uses the rubric. Each station takes about five minutes. You may use your cheat sheets to prepare, but try to perform without them.

Station A: The first day

Modules 1, 2, and 3

☐ Greet a new student at the door with the right greeting for the time of day.

☐ Learn the student's full name, which has two surnames. Use Ask, Listen, Repeat, Check, Use, and tell your observer which surname you would file under.

☐ Give three directions to the whole class (ustedes) and one to the new student (tú), with gestures.

Station B: During the lesson

Modules 4 and 5

☐ Preview a lesson: say "Hoy vamos a aprender sobre ___" and introduce three cognates from your subject.

☐ Run a short Talk Then Write with a bilingual sentence frame.

☐ Check the student's understanding without saying "¿Entiendes?", then give specific praise.

Station C: Reaching the family

Module 6

☐ Make a good-news call or leave a voicemail using usted.

☐ Your partner, as the parent, raises a serious concern, such as a failing grade or a behavior issue. Respond politely in Spanish and arrange a qualified interpreter.

☐ Your partner, as the student, offers to interpret. Decline kindly in Spanish.

Rubric

Your observer circles one level per row after all three stations. Use the results to choose what to practice next. Judgment matters most: aim for Confident (3) in that row before you communicate with families on your own.

Criteria	Getting started (1)	Developing (2)	Confident (3)
Pronunciation	Vowels glide; stress often misplaced; names hard to recognize.	Mostly pure vowels; stress usually correct; names recognizable.	Pure vowels, correct stress, and names said the way the student says them.
Accurate forms	Mixes tú, ustedes, and usted.	Usually chooses the right form, with some slips.	Consistently uses tú with one student, ustedes with groups, and usted with adults.
Respect and warmth	Greets without names or titles.	Uses names and titles most of the time.	Uses names, titles, greetings, and a warm tone throughout.
Judgment	Tries to handle a serious matter	Recognizes the need for an	Moves to a qualified

Support for learning	Translates everything or uses no strategy.	Uses one strategy: cognates, a frame, or a check for understanding.	Combines a preview, cognates, a frame, and a strong check for understanding.

Reflection

Which phrase felt most natural? Which one will you practice this week?

Which student will you greet by name, correctly, tomorrow?

Which family will get a good-news call from you in the next two weeks?

Answer Key

Module 1: Sounds and Names

Activity 1 · Letters and sounds

- 1. c (silent)
- 2. g (breathy h)
- 3. e (y, as in yes)
- 4. a (ny)
- 5. f (s)
- 6. b (k, silent u)
- 7. d (rolled r)

Activity 2 · Find the stress

- 1. Carmen: CAR, Rule 1 (example)
- 2. Isabel: BEL, Rule 2
- 3. Ramírez: MÍ, Rule 3
- 4. Lucas: LU, Rule 1
- 5. Raúl: ÚL, Rule 3
- 6. Salvador: DOR, Rule 2
- 7. Valentina: TI, Rule 1
- 8. Andrés: DRÉS, Rule 3

Activity 3 · Roster detective

- File her under H. Hernández is her father's surname (her first surname); Ruiz is her mother's.
- "Buenos días, señora Ruiz." She is Señora Ruiz, not Mrs. Hernández.
- Juan Pablo, using both parts of the first name, unless he tells you he prefers something else.
- Thank him, use his full name, and ask the family how they want it recorded. Then let the office know so his records match across systems.

Activity 4 · Read the roster

- José (hoh-SEH)
- Jesús (heh-SOOS)
- Guadalupe (gwah-dah-LOO-peh)
- Ximena (hee-MEH-nah)
- Joaquín (hwah-KEEN)
- Guillermo (gee-YEHR-moh)
- Yesenia (yeh-SEH-nyah)
- Rocío (rroh-SEE-oh)
- Ángel (AHN-hehl)
- Jiménez (hee-MEH-nehs)
- Gutiérrez (goo-TYEH-rrehs)
- Rodríguez (rroh-DREE-gehs)
- Vázquez (BAHS-kehs)

- Muñoz (moo-NYOHS)
- Hernández (ehr-NAHN-dehs)
- Iturria (ee-TOO-rryah)

Activity 5 · First-day name check

- Answers will vary. Check that the teacher identifies the first surname (in the model, Rodríguez) as the one to file under.

Quiz

1. B 2. B 3. C 4. A 5. C

Module 2: Greetings and Relationships

Activity 1 · The right greeting

- 1. c (Buenos días.)
- 2. f (Buenas tardes.)
- 3. e (Te extrañamos. Me alegra que estés aquí.)
- 4. a (Hasta el lunes.)
- 5. b (Buenas tardes, señora. ¿Cómo está usted?)
- 6. d (Bienvenido a la clase.)

Activity 2 · Tú or usted?

- 1. estás
- 2. usted
- 3. tengas
- 4. tenga
- 5. usted
- 6. Bienvenida

Activity 3 · What would you say?

- "Buenos días, Luis. ¿Cómo estás?" If he says "Cansado," answer "Lo siento" and check in with him privately later.
- "Buenas tardes, señora Ruiz. ¿Cómo está usted?" Use usted and her title.
- It is not rude. In many Latin American schools, "Teacher" or "Maestra / Maestro" is a respectful title. You can teach your name too, while honoring the respect behind the greeting.

Activity 4 · Door greeting, two ways

- Answers will vary. Check for estás with the student and está usted with the adult.

Activity 5 · Pure vowels

- BWEH-nohs DEE-ahs
- BWEH-nahs TAHR-dehs
- KOH-moh ehs-TAH oos-TEHD
- teh ehks-trah-NYAH-mohs

Activity 2 · Complete the phrase

- 1. orgullosa
- 2. cansado
- 3. nerviosa
- 4. ayuda
- 5. aprender
- 6. inglés

Activity 3 · What would you do?

- Kneel beside him and ask "¿Qué vas a hacer primero?" or say "Muéstrame." Point to the first step, model it, and check back in a few minutes.
- "Lo siento. ¿Quieres hablar?" Give her a moment, offer a quiet task or a short break, and follow up privately. Let the counselor know if the sadness continues.
- Stay calm and say "Estoy aquí para ayudarte." Do not question him further or promise secrecy. Follow your school's mandated reporting procedures immediately, and involve the counselor or administrator and a qualified interpreter.

Activity 4 · Desk-side check-in

- Answers will vary. The understanding check should ask the student to show or tell, not just say sí.

Activity 5 · The praise ladder

- MOOY BYEHN
- ehk-seh-LEHN-teh
- BWEHN trah-BAH-hoh
- SEE-geh ah-SEE

- 2. igualdad
- 3. nervioso
- 4. finalmente
- 5. eléctrico
- 6. dentista
- 7. importante
- 8. evaporación

Activity 3 · Plan a Preview-View-Review

- Sample: a short Spanish summary or video on el ciclo del agua, with key cognates evaporación, condensación, and precipitación, plus a labeled diagram. Students discuss it with a partner.
- Sample: teach in English with a labeled diagram, gestures for rising and falling water, and the cognates color-coded on the board. Pause to point out each cognate.
- Sample: partners explain the cycle in Spanish using Primero, Luego, Por último, then complete a bilingual exit ticket: label the diagram in English and write one sentence with a frame.

Activity 4 · Talk Then Write

- Answers will vary. Sample written response: I think a library is more important because people can learn for free. For example, students can use the computers there.

Activity 5 · Cognate read-aloud

- ecuación (eh-kwah-SYOHN)
- fracción (frahk-SYOHN)
- célula (SEH-loo-lah)
- energía (eh-nehr-HEE-ah)

Module 6: Talking with Families

Activity 1 · Put the good-news call in order

- Gracias por su apoyo. = 5
- Habla la maestra Smith… = 2
- Que tenga un buen día. Adiós. = 6
- Buenas tardes. ¿Hablo con la mamá de Daniela? = 1
- Daniela trabajó mucho hoy… = 4
- Todo está bien. Le llamo con buenas noticias. = 3

Activity 2 · Family phrases

- 1. bien
- 2. noticias
- 3. apoyo

- 4. tenga
- 5. intérprete
- 6. favor

Activity 3 · My Spanish, or an interpreter?

- P. A good-news call: Todo está bien. Le llamo con buenas noticias…
- I. Discipline always calls for a qualified interpreter.
- P. A short call or message is fine; also send the school's written notice in Spanish if one is available.
- I. Special education meetings require a qualified interpreter.
- I. Decline kindly: Gracias, pero vamos a usar un intérprete. Never use a student to interpret.
- Do not ask. Public schools may not deny children an education based on immigration status (Plyler v. Doe, 1982). Refer the worker to district enrollment procedures and leaders.

Activity 4 · Opening a conference with an interpreter

- Answers will vary. Check that the teacher addresses the parent directly and never says "Tell her…"

Activity 5 · Leave a voicemail

- BWEH-nahs TAHR-dehs.
- leh YAH-mah lah mah-EHS-trah / ehl mah-EHS-troh … deh …
- TOH-doh ehs-TAH BYEHN.

Glossary

acento / tilde	The written accent mark (´). It shows the stressed syllable and is part of correct spelling.
apellido	Surname. Many Spanish speakers have two: the first usually from the father, the second from the mother.
cheat sheet	The one-page summary at the end of each module, designed to keep on your desk.
cognado (cognate)	A word that looks, sounds, and means the same in two languages, such as ecuación and equation.
command	A direction, such as Siéntate (to one student) or Siéntense (to the whole class).
compañero / compañera	Classmate or partner.
ENL	English as a New Language: instruction that supports students who are learning English.
English learner (EL)	A student who is developing proficiency in English while learning grade-level content.
falso cognado (false cognate)	A look-alike word with a different meaning, such as embarazada, which means pregnant, not embarrassed.
funds of knowledge	The knowledge, skills, and practices found in students' households and communities, which teachers can learn from and build on (Moll et al., 1992).
intérprete (interpreter)	A trained person who conveys spoken messages between languages. A translator works with written text.
marco de oración (sentence frame)	A partial sentence that supports academic talk or writing, such as Creo que ___ porque ___.
palabras clave	Key words.
Plyler v. Doe (1982)	The U.S. Supreme Court case holding that public schools may not deny children a K-12 education based on immigration status.
Preview-View-Review	A lesson routine: preview key ideas in the home language, teach the lesson in English, and review in the home language or both.
pronunciation respelling	The English-style spelling in this workbook that shows how to say a Spanish word, with the stressed syllable in capital letters.
qualified interpreter	An interpreter trained for school settings and bound by confidentiality. Never a student, a sibling, or an untrained volunteer.
quiet period	A stage in which many new language learners listen far more than they speak.
señor, señora, señorita	Mr., Mrs. or Ms., and Miss. Used with or without a last name.
Talk Then Write	A routine in which students think and talk, in any language, before writing in English.
translanguaging	Students' use of their full language repertoire to learn and communicate, and teaching that plans for it (García, Johnson, & Seltzer, 2017).
tú	The familiar singular "you." Use it with one student.

usted	The respectful singular "you." Use it with one adult, such as a parent or colleague.
ustedes	The plural "you" in Latin America. Use it with any group, including the whole class.
